ASEH:
This year's program committee is pleased to present the program for the 2010 meeting of the American Society for Environmental History. The theme “Currents of Change” speaks especially well to the environmental character of the Pacific Northwest, and the plenary session – with its emphasis on the conflicting and changing uses of the Klamath River – highlights important regional issues associated with evolving perceptions of fish, dams, and the way different people value a remarkable waterway. But the theme “Currents of Change” resonates throughout the field of environmental history and is hardly confined to topics with a riparian bent. Thus it proved a generous platform allowing for a rich and diverse set of presentations.

The conference includes 90 regular sessions, a plenary session, a host of posters, and two special workshops. Over 400 scholars and professionals are formally participating in the program. This is a huge number – more than any prior ASEH conference – but it need be noted that the committee could not incorporate into the program all of the session and paper proposals submitted to us. Choices had to be made and we regret that we could not accommodate all the worthy proposals we received. That said, we are extremely proud of the program and believe that everyone attending the conference will find panels, posters, and roundtables of abiding interest. No attempt will made here to recount the tremendous diversity of topics and methodological approaches evident in the following pages. Just check it out for yourself. Res ipsa loquitur—the thing speaks for itself.

The committee’s work is done and now it is up to you to interact with the program in accord with your own intellectual, professional, and personal interests. Everyone will discern a different path through what we believe is an extraordinary collection of presentations and that is exactly how it should be. Take the reins and make it your conference!

NCPH:
Welcome to Portland! As public historians, many of us are already aware of not only the ways in which our profession is changing but also how history informs our understanding of today’s most pressing issues. Working this year with the American Society for Environmental History has allowed us to put together a program to explore these ideas in depth under our conference theme of “Currents of Change.”

NCPH received a record number of proposals and the program committee had the difficult task of determining which of many outstanding submissions should be included in this year’s program. The 2010 program brings together scholars in many different disciplines to discuss an incredible array of topics. This year, the conference will host more working groups than ever before, enabling you to explore ideas in depth with colleagues from across the world. In addition to the working groups, we are pleased to present several workshops on topics ranging from computer-based programs such as Omeka to heritage tourism. Panels and roundtables will also explore issues relating to preservation, curatorial work, the teaching of public history, local history, and oral history.

Portland’s reputation as one of America’s most environmentally-friendly cities makes it an especially appropriate site to exchange ideas on the topic of “Currents of Change.” Although we have planned a full schedule, we hope that you will take the time to explore the city and all it has to offer. The Local Arrangements Committee has done an outstanding job coordinating field trips, including a bicycle tour, which will enable you to see the city as its residents do—from the seat of a bike. The city’s light-rail system will also ensure that you will have the opportunity to explore the town on your own. Be sure to check out the World Forestry Center, the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry, and the Skidmore Old Town Historic District, a unique cast-iron district which is one of the city’s National Historic Landmarks.

So welcome to Portland and be prepared to explore all the city and the conference can offer!

The conference registration fee covers admission to sessions, breaks, exhibit hall, poster session and reception, and public plenary sessions and keynote addresses, Mentoring Network, and other events. The special events listed below require payment of additional fees. All presenters and conference attendees must register for the conference. All sessions and events are open to all conference attendees.

Registration is available online at www.ncph.org or by completing the form at the back of this program. To register by mail, submit the form with a check or credit card information, or fax it with credit card information to (317) 278-5230. (Visa, MasterCard, and American Express credit cards only. Payment in U.S. dollars, please. Check should be made payable to “NCPH.”)

Early registration ends February 12, 2010. Regular registration begins February 13 and ends February 24. No registrations can be accepted online or by mail after February 24. After that date, you must register onsite and the availability of tickets for meals, special events, workshops, etc. may be limited.

Student registrations must be completed with the name of the student’s institution, department, and advisor.

Cancellations in writing (letter or email to ncph@iupui.edu), postmarked on or before February 24, 2010, will receive a refund (less a $30.00 processing fee) by check or credit card refund after the conference. Refunds cannot be given after February 24.

Special Needs or Assistance: Pursuant to the Americans with Disabilities Act, please contact the ASEH or NCPH Executive Offices should you have special needs or require assistance.

Travel Information

Portland has excellent public transportation, from the bus system to the streetcar line and the light rail. Though much of the city, particularly downtown, can be accessed by walking, one may want to take advantage of the public transportation options.

MAX Light Rail

The MAX (Metropolitan Area Express) has four different lines, each providing transportation from suburban areas, each stopping downtown. All of the lines service the city center. The Red Line provides direct service to and from the Portland International Airport. MAX trains run approximately every five to fifteen minutes, generally between 4:30 am and midnight Monday through Sunday. Tickets for the light rail can be purchased at each stop, with separate machines for cash and credit card purchases. Validated tickets are good for two hours on the MAX, bus and Streetcar. Tickets cost $2.00 for one or two zones or $2.30 for access to all zones. MAX lines that travel through the Fareless Square do not require valid fare.

Streetcar

The Portland Streetcar serves downtown, the Pearl District, and the Northwest/Nob Hill Neighborhood in a continuous eight-mile loop. In downtown, the Streetcar lines run southbound on 11th Avenue and northbound on 10th Avenue, with stops located about every three to four blocks. All of downtown falls in the Fareless Square, which runs south of NW Irving Street and east of Interstate 405 through the Portland State Campus to RiverPlace. Stops outside of the Fareless Square require proof of valid fare. Tickets for the Streetcar can be purchased on board and are valid all day, as well as for two hours on the MAX and bus systems. Tickets cost $2.00 for Zones 1 and 2 and $1.50 for honored citizens. Ticket machines only take cash, either quarters or small bills. The Streetcar runs every day of the week, approximately every twelve minutes, with some variation in the hours: Monday - Thursday 5:30 am to 11:30 pm; Friday 5:30 a.m. to 11:45 p.m.; Saturday 7:15 a.m. to 11:45 p.m. and Sunday 7:15 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Hotel Information

Did you know that where you stay during the conference makes a difference? Both ASEH and NCPH are contractually committed to filling a block of sleeping rooms at the conference hotel (at a reduced rate for attendees), and in return the hotel provides meeting space for the sessions and other events. Since most attendees choose to lodge at the conference hotel, everyone benefits from lower registration fees.

When registering, please indicate to the reservationist whether you are an ASEH member or an NCPH member. If you are an ASEH member, please request the ASEH block of rooms. If you are an NCPH member, please request the NCPH block of rooms.

Reservations must be made by February 9, 2010 to receive this rate. Space is limited. Please indicate whether you are reserving a room in the ASEH or NCPH room block.

From Portland International Airport (PDX), Follow the signs for the MAX/light rail. You will be taking the Red Line towards City Center/Beaverton Transit Center. The line begins at the airport, so there will be no confusion about the direction to take the train. Tickets for the light rail can be purchased either inside the airport or at the ticket machine immediately to the right of the train. Purchase tickets for all zones (fare is $2.30), as you will be traveling through Zones 1, 2, and 3 from the airport to downtown. Get off at the Pioneer Square South stop. Walk south two blocks on SW Broadway. Turn LEFT on SW Taylor Street. Walk east two blocks on SW Taylor Street. Turn RIGHT on SW 6th Avenue. The entrance to the Main building of the Hilton will be on the left-hand side of SW 6th Avenue.

From Portland International Airport, Driving: Take I-205 South and exit onto I-84 West. At the end of I-84 West you will reach a junction of I-5 North and South. Go South toward Salem. Following the City Center signs, crossing the Morrison Bridge. Go straight through the traffic light onto SW Washington Street. Stay on Washington Street for one block, then turn LEFT onto 3rd Avenue. Remain on 3rd Avenue for four blocks, then turn RIGHT on SW Taylor Street. Follow Taylor Street for four blocks, turning LEFT onto SW Broadway, then LEFT again on SW Salmon Street and finally LEFT onto 6th Avenue. The entrance to the Main building of the Hilton will be on the left-hand side of SW 6th Avenue.

From North (Seattle), Southbound on Interstate 5, Driving: Take exit 300B off of I-5 Southbound. After exiting, follow the City Center signs, driving across the Morrison Bridge. Head straight through the traffic light near the end of the bridge onto SW Washington Street. Take Washington Street one block and then turn LEFT onto 3rd Avenue. Remain on 3rd Avenue for four blocks, then turn RIGHT on SW Taylor Street. Follow Taylor Street for four blocks, turning LEFT onto SW Broadway, then LEFT again on SW Salmon Street and finally LEFT onto 6th Avenue. The entrance to the Main building of the Hilton will be on the left-hand side of SW 6th Avenue.

From South, Northbound on Interstate 5, Driving: Take exit 299B off of I-5 Northbound (LEFT exit) onto I-405 North. Drive 1.4 miles and take Exit 2A for Salmon Street. After taking exit ramp back over the interstate, keep RIGHT. Turn RIGHT onto SW Salmon Street. Travel 8 blocks east on SW Salmon Street (0.4 miles). Turn LEFT onto SW 6th Avenue where the Main building front doors will be on the left hand side of the street.

From East, Westbound on Interstate 84, Driving: Follow directions from Portland International Airport.

From Union Station (AMTRAK) on the MAX Light Rail: This trip is entirely within the Fareless Square, so do not worry about paying for a fare. Take Green or Yellow Line from Union Station/NW 5th and Glisan MAX Station southbound. Get off at Pioneer Place/SW 5th Avenue MAX Station. Walk one block south on SW 5th Avenue. Turn RIGHT on SW Taylor Street. Walk one block west on SW Taylor. Turn LEFT on SW 6th Avenue. Main building front doors will be on the right-hand side of the street.

Directions to Portland Hilton
From Portland International Airport (PDX), on the MAX Light Rail (Red Line): Follow the airport signs for the MAX/light rail. You will be taking the Red Line towards City Center/Beaverton Transit Center. The line begins at the airport, so there will be no confusion about the direction to take the train. Tickets for the light rail can be purchased either inside the airport or at the ticket machine immediately to the right of the train. WHERE TO EAT (Distances noted are walking distance from the downtown Hilton) than thirty years, serving lunch and dinner, as well as a famous Sunday brunch. Prices range between $15 and $30. 1220 SW 1st Avenue. (503) 227-7342. 0.4 miles.

Bijou Café
A local favorite, featuring breakfast and lunch utilizing seasonal ingredients in a cozy setting. Prices range between $10 and $17. 132 SW 3rd Avenue. (503) 222-3187. 0.5 miles.

Clyde Common
Innovative cooking with local products in a modern setting, open for lunch and dinner. Prices range between $10 and $25. 401 SW 12th Avenue. (503) 228-3333. 0.6 miles.

Jake's Famous Crawfish Restaurant
A Portland landmark, open for more than a hundred years. Considered one of the nation's top seafood restaurants, offering lunch and dinner, as well as a more economical happy hour menu. Prices range between $10 and $25. 1014 SW Stark Street. (503) 228-9060. 0.5 miles.

Kenny & Zuke's Delicatessen
Comforting deli food in a hip, urban setting. Famous for their pastrami, but their breakfast, lunch, and dinner menus also feature several vegetarian friendly choices. Prices range between $9 and $14. 1038 SW Stark Street. (503) 222-3354. 0.5 miles.

McMenamins
The McMenamin brothers have opened countless pubs, restaurants, theatres, and hotels across Oregon and Washington, by restoring historic structures. There are several locations in Portland alone and they are great places for cheap food, craft beer, and a bit of history. Meals cost typically between $8 and $15, beers $4.50, but happy hour prices run as low as $3 for burgers.

Market Street Pub
1526 SW 10th Avenue. (503) 497-0160. 0.5 miles.

Ringlers Annex
1223 SW Stark Street. (503) 525-0520. 0.6 miles.

Ringlers Pub, in the Crystal Ballroom
1332 W. Burnside. (503) 225-0627. 0.7 miles.

Mother's Bistro & Bar
Comfort food in an elegant setting, open for breakfast, lunch, and dinner. Perhaps best known for its Sunday brunch, often an hour's wait for a table, but well worth it. Prices range between $12 and $20. 212 SW Stark Street. (503) 464-1122. 0.5 miles.

Stumptown Coffee
Portland is a coffee crazed town. Stumptown is a hip coffee house and roasters, arguably the most popular in the city, with several locations to choose from. Various coffee beverages available, as well as fresh pastries. Prices are typically less expensive than national chains. 1026 SW Stark Street. (503) 224-9060. 0.5 miles. Open 6:00 am to 10:00 pm. 128 SW 3rd Avenue. (503) 295-6144. 0.5 miles. Open 7:00 am to 9:00 pm.

Voodoo Donuts
From the décor to the eclectic menu, this is one of the city's most famous food destinations. Donut offerings include maple bacon bars, jelly filled vooodo dolls, and countless cereal topped varieties. Open 24 hours. Donuts cost around $1 to $3 each. Cash only. 22 SW 3rd Avenue. (503) 241-4704. 0.6 miles.

Dan & Louis Oyster Bar
The oldest family owned restaurant in Portland offering signature seafood dishes. 208 SW Ankeny. (503) 227-5906. 0.6 miles. Prices range between $10 and $25.

Food Carts
One of the most unique parts of Portland's food scene is the presence of dozens of food carts. Many are located downtown. All are open for lunch during the week and some offer breakfast and dinner options. Cuisine options ran the gamut from Dim Sum to pizza, Korean to Kazakhstani, and countless vegan varieties. For cheap eats, frequent any of the food cart pods downtown, where lunch can run as inexpensively as $3 a meal.

SW 6th and Yamhill
0.3 miles. Popular options: Fuego Burritos, Philly Cheesesteaks and Burgers, Honkin' Huge Burritos.

SW 5th and Stark
0.3 miles. Popular options: BrunchBox, Michelle's Amazing Venezuelan Kitchen, and Tabor Czech House.

Voodoo Donuts
SW Alder Street, between 9th and 10th Avenues. 0.4 miles. Local favorites include: Huong's Vietnamese, Savor Soup House, and Whole Bowl.

Andina Restaurant
Novoandina cuisine, reviving pre-colonial ingredients and techniques of Peru. Open for lunch and dinner. 1314 NW Glisan Street. (503) 228-9535. 0.9 miles. Also accessible by streetcar.

Byways Café
A breakfast-centric restaurant with delightfully kitschy décor. Offering breakfast and lunch during the week, breakfast only on the weekends. Prices range between $8 and $11. 1212 NW Glisan Street. (503) 221-0011. 0.9 miles. Also accessible by streetcar.

Tea Zone & Camellia Lounge
Home to Portland's largest selection of tea, from hot tea to bubble tea to various infusions and elixirs, this café also features a full menu and display case full of tempting sweets. Open 8:00 am to midnight. Prices range between $1 and $10. 510 NW 11th Avenue. (503) 221-2130. 0.9 miles. Also accessible by streetcar.
THINGS TO DO/SEE IN PORTLAND

By Carl Abbott
(Contributors: Lisa Mighetto and William Willingham)

Eastside Esplanade/Willamette River Loop: The Eastside Esplanade stretches for 1.5 miles along the Willamette River across from downtown. It offers great views of the city and has some cool public art. It can be accessed by pedestrians from the Hawthorne Bridge, the Morrison Bridge, and the Steel Bridge. The full loop, starting from the Marriott, crossing the Hawthorne Bridge, heading north to the Steel Bridge, and returning via Waterfront Park is a bit under 4 miles. www.40mileloop.org/trail_esplanade.htm

Oregon Maritime Museum: The museum is housed in the sternwheeler tug Portland, moored on the Willamette River seawall at the foot of Pine Street. Portland has a rich heritage of maritime commerce, with a modern port that is a major automobile importer and exporter of bulk commodities. It struggles to compete with Puget Sound and California for container cargo. The sternwheeler, built as a working tug in 1947, is really impressive. www.oregonmaritimemuseum.org

Oregon Museum of Science and Industry: OMSI lies on the east side of the river, a short distance south of the Hawthorne Bridge. It is a typical family-oriented science museum, complete with Omnimax theater and submarine. There are views toward the city from the riverside walk in front of the building, with good signage about riverine geology and history (because I contributed the text). www.omsi.org

Japanese American Historical Plaza: At the northern end of Waterfront Park, just north of the Burnside Bridge, is a powerfully rendered landscape that comments on the World War II internment experience. www.portlandonline.com/parksfinder/index.cfm?action=ViewPark&PropertyID=156

Interstate MAX: The shortest segment of Portland’s light rail system is a six-mile line through North Portland. Board downtown and ride to the end of the line. See very interesting public art at the stops, especially the installation memorializing the World War II internment of Japanese Americans. See the Paul Bunyan statue in the Kenton neighborhood, a leftover from the Oregon Centennial Exposition of 1959. trimet.org/max/index.htm

Oregon Zoo/Washington Park: For an energetic expedition, take westside MAX into its deep tunnel to the zoo stop and ride the elevator to the surface. There you can visit the Oregon Zoo or the World Forestry Center, an industry sponsored museum. Walk uphill from the station to access trails through Washington Park. You can follow them roughly downhill (northeast) for about a mile to the Rose Test Gardens and the Japanese Garden (open 10–4). From here you can take the No. 63 bus back into the center of the city, or walk another two miles (it’s almost all downhill). www.oregonzoo.org; www.washingtonparkpdx.org

The World Forestry Center: located in Portland’s beautiful Washington Park; includes a museum where visitors can learn about the sustainability of forests and trees of the Pacific Northwest and around the world. The World Forestry Center also operates two working forests managed according to the principles of sustainable forestry. www.worldforestry.org

Westside MAX: Take the westside light rail line into the suburbs to the Orenco stop in Washington County. Get off and check out a new urbanist development. Is it impressively urbane or distressingly small? The wave of the future or a Potemkin Village? Judge for yourself. trimet.org/max/index.htm

Old Town: Portland’s nightlife of clubs and music venues is fairly scattered. One concentration of clubs is the Old Town area, north of Burnside between 1st and 4th. It tends to attract suburbanites ages 18–32. Gay-oriented clubs cluster south of Burnside between 9th and 12th. For detailed information about the music and club scene, see the free weekly papers Willamette Week and Portland Mercury. www.oldtownchinatown.org

South Park Blocks Cultural Institutions: The South Park Blocks are the site for Portland’s big ticket cultural institutions.

Portland State University anchors the southern end of this wide boulevarded expanse. www.pdx.edu

Portland Art Museum: This is a third-level museum with big ambitions. There is a small but good collection of the native arts of the Northwest coast. www.pam.org

Portland Center for the Performing Arts: in a complex of new and refurbished theaters. www.pcpa.com

Oregon History Center: containing permanent exhibits on Oregon history and usually traveling exhibits of interest. The research library contains millions of manuscripts, photographs, and maps pertaining to Pacific Northwest history. www.ohs.org

Pearl District/River District: North of Burnside Street, from the North Park Blocks west to I-405, is the so-called Pearl District. Like many cities, Portland has seen an explosion of demand for downtown apartments and condos. Fifteen years ago, this was a warehouse district with some artists and galleries. Now it is full of... expensive condos, high end galleries, and interior design stores. Hop on the Portland Streetcar, which runs along 10th, and ride north into the district. Look for some privately financed public art, including totem poles and a giant dog dish. Enjoy Jamison Square and Tanner Creek Springs, two new parks with deliberately contrasting character. Speculate how many empty nesters with good retirement incomes it takes to fill all the space. pearldistrict.com/about_the_pearl_district.html

Powell’s Bookstore: Powell’s is an institution, claiming (probably accurately) to be the country’s largest independent bookstore. It is big, with a vast selection of new and used books. It is on the Portland Streetcar, so you don’t have to lug your purchases all the way back to the hotel on foot. A block away, at 921 SW Oak, is Reading Frenzy, a fun bookstore that specializes in comics, obscure magazines, independent zines, and the like. www.powells.com; www.readingfrenzy.com

Aerial Tram: connects the Oregon Health and Sciences University (perched stupidly on a hilltop south of downtown) with the south waterfront, where industrial lands are in the process of conversion to high-rise development (interrupted by the real estate downturn). The tram whisks medical researchers back and forth between the estate downturn). The tram connects three of the city’s key intellectual institutions: Portland State University, the Multnomah County Central Library, and Powell’s. www.portlandstreetcar.org

Child Care

Creative Childcare Solutions can provide babysitting services to Portland hotel guests. Call (503) 518-2274 for more information. The Facebook pages for ASEH and NPCH would be a good place to post requests to trade babysitting services with fellow conference attendees.

Commitment to Sustainability

For a description of carbon credits, see www.aseh.net/conferences/current-conference

ASEH and NCPH will ensure that waste at the hotel is recycled, and we will provide recycling containers on the field trip/tour buses. We will recycle the name badges, and are working with the hotel to get locally grown food for our events. Walking tours are provided (see section of conference program listing field trips), and information on local public transportation is provided on page 3.

Exhibits

We invite you to visit the numerous book publishers and organizations exhibiting in the Grand Ballroom I throughout the conference. The Poster Sessions will also be held in this area on Saturday, March 13. Complimentary coffee breaks will be held in the Exhibit Hall or in the foyer just outside the Exhibit Hall throughout the conference.

ASEH Floating Seminar, Willamette River
Wednesday, March 10
12:00 pm – 4:00 pm
Tickets—$38
Lunch included
Meet in hotel lobby at 12:00 noon. We will walk from the hotel to the dock at the end of SW Salmon Street—a distance of about six blocks, located in downtown Portland, along the Willamette River. Our boat, the Willamette Star, will depart at 12:30PM. The boat has a covered cabin, but we recommend bringing an umbrella and rain jacket as well as camera and binoculars.

Speakers:
• Carl Abbott, Urban Studies and Planning, Portland State University
• Jorge Guadalupe Lizarraga, Diversity Faculty Fellow, Washington State University
• Mike Houck, Urban Green Spaces
• Steven Kolmes, Environmental Science, University of Portland
• Bob Salinger, Audubon Society
• Joseph Taylor, Department of History, University of Portland

As the Willamette Star cruises along the Willamette River, the speakers and passengers will discuss a variety of issues, including urban planning, salmon management, forestry, past land and water use, and the effect of contamination on local communities. We will specifically discuss the Portland Harbor Superfund Site.

ASEH Opening Reception
Wednesday, March 10
6:00 pm – 8:00 pm
Tickets—$6
Location: Pavilion Ballroom, Plaza Level
Join us for light appetizers. Cash bar provided.
Sponsored by Portland State University

NCPH 30th Anniversary Reception
Wednesday, March 10
7:30 pm – 9:00 pm
Tickets—$6
We have organized sessions about it, written articles and centered fundraising on it. In Portland, opening night of the conference, we will celebrate it—NCPH’s 30th birthday. Join the festivities as founding members and participants in the Mentoring Network program for conversation, coffee, and a breakfast buffet. This is a great way to meet new and old members of the organization and to learn more about NCPH, the conference, and the field of public history.
Cosponsored by Central Connecticut State University

ASEH Sustainability Breakfast
Thursday, March 11
7:15 am – 8:15 am
Tickets—$22
Location: Alexander’s, 23rd floor
Organized by ASEH’s Sustainability Committee

NCPH First-Time Attendee & New Member Breakfast
Thursday, March 11
7:30 am – 8:30 am
Tickets—$22
Join members of the NCPH Board of Directors, the Membership Committee, and participants in the Mentoring Network program for conversation, coffee, and a breakfast buffet. This is a great way to meet new and old members of the organization and to learn more about NCPH, the conference, and the field of public history.
Cosponsored by Central Connecticut State University

ASEH Awards Lunch Banquet
Thursday, March 11
12:00 pm – 1:15 pm
Tickets—$38
Location: Pavilion Ballroom, Plaza Level
Join us for lunch and presentation of ASEH’s awards, including best book, articles, and dissertation in environmental history as well as the Distinguished Scholar Award.

NCPH Speed Networking
Thursday, March 11
3:30 pm – 5:15 pm
Free—Ticket is required
NCPH has put a professional twist on ‘speed dating’ creating stress-free networking opportunities at the annual meeting. Graduate students, recent graduates, and new professionals will have the opportunity to meet with five established public history practitioners for fifteen minute intervals. Before the buzzer sounds, participants can discuss career options, professional development, and any other aspects of the field. (See the Speed Networking listing in the body of this program for a list of guest practitioners whom the networking will be meeting.) Advance registration is required. After the final rotation, participants have the opportunity to mingle in a free-flowing atmosphere in the Mentoring and Networking Reception. Last year’s speed networkers and anyone participating in this year’s mentor program will also be invited to join us for this portion of the program.
Cosponsored by the NCPH Curriculum and Training Committee and the NCPH Graduate Student Committee

NCPH Committee Mixer
Thursday, March 11
5:00 pm – 6:00 pm
Meet members of the NCPH Nominating Committee, Board of Directors, and other committees for informal conversation in the hotel bar over drinks. (BYOD) We are looking for people interested in serving the organization and the field on committees and task forces and in the NCPH leadership. All skills are needed. Being new to the field is a good thing; being around for awhile is equally good. Members of the board and various committees will be on hand to answer questions and take names. We want you!

ASEH Plenary Session
Thursday, March 11
5:30 pm – 7:15 pm
Location: Pavilion Ballroom, Plaza Level
Dam Removal on the Klamath: Water, Environment, Fish, Power, and People
Through most of the 20th century, the benefits offered by dams held sway over the public mind. But in recent decades, a rethinking of how humans interact with the environment has brought the costs associated with dams to the forefront. In the Pacific Northwest, special attention has focused on the devastation brought by dams to spawning fish populations and to the people culturally bound to these fisheries. The ongoing Klamath River controversy provides an opportunity to explore how—in a specific, real world context—myriad interest groups and communities are grappling with the challenges and opportunities presented by the possibility of large-scale dam removal. For the Plenary Session, residents and organizational representatives now involved in bringing change to the Klamath Basin will present their viewpoints and invite/spur audience comments and questions. In addition, Nancy Langston (ASEH Past President), Stephen Most (producer of the acclaimed documentary film River of Renewal), and dam historian DC Jackson will offer background and moderate the discussion.

NCPH Consultants Reception
Thursday, March 11
5:30 pm – 7:00 pm
Free—Ticket required
Interested in consulting and contract work? Join new and experienced consultants at an informal reception for lively conversation, hors d’oeuvres, and drinks. We hope to continue and further conversations generated in sessions and the working groups, as well as discuss how best to promote and support the work of public history consultants. Cosponsored by Historical Research Associates, Inc., HRA Gray and Pape, and the Consultants Committee.

Dine Arounds
Thursday, March 11
7:00 pm – 9:00 pm
Sign up at conference
Volunteer facilitators will suggest topics for discussion and lead small groups to nearby restaurants for an evening of collegial conversation. Sign up onsite in the conference registration area.

Graduate Student Reception
Thursday, March 11
8:30 pm – 9:30 pm
Location: Alexander’s, 23rd floor
ASEH and NCPH are combining their graduate student receptions this year. Come meet your colleagues for hors d’oeuvres, drinks, and camaraderie. There will be door prizes! Cosponsored by the Graduate Student Committee.

NCPH Public History Educator Breakfast
Friday, March 12
7:00 am – 8:30 am
Tickets—$22
This annual event is an opportunity for faculty to share ideas about running graduate and undergraduate public history programs and to talk about university, departmental, and a wide variety of other issues. The discussion is always lively. Cosponsored by the NCPH Curriculum and Training Committee.

ASEH Forest History Society Breakfast
Friday, March 12
7:15 am – 8:15 am
Tickets—$22
Location: Alexander’s, 23rd floor
Organized by the Forest History Society.

ASEH Mini Film Festival
Friday, March 12
7:00 pm – 10:00 pm
Location: Pavilion Ballroom, Plaza Level
Organized by ASEH’s Diversity Committee.
Steve Most, producer of River of Renewal – the winner of the best documentary award at this year’s American Indian Film Festival—will introduce his film about the Klamath Basin controversy (the subject of ASEH’s plenary session on Thursday evening). From 9:00 pm – 10:00 pm we will show March Point, a new documentary about how three youths from the Swinomish Tribe in Washington State investigated contaminated waters adjacent to their reservation.

NCPH Public Plenary Session
Friday, March 12
8:00 pm – 9:30 pm
Adam Hochschild is an award-winning author and journalist who has used history to reveal the lingering effects of past injustices on the present. His most recent work, Bury the Chains: Prophets and Rebels in the Fight to Free an Empire’s Slaves, was a finalist for the 2005 National Book Award. The Unquiet Ghost: Russians Remember Stalin (1994) is a deeply moving exploration of history and memory shortly after the end of the Cold War. It was primarily because of King Leopold’s Ghost (1998), which brought to light the horrors of Belgian colonial rule in the Congo, that the American Historical Association awarded Hochschild the 2009 AHA Theodore Roosevelt-Woodrow Wilson Prize. According to the AHA, “Hochschild’s book triggered the first open national discussion of imperial injustices and eventually spurred other investigations and led to an official apology being tendered by the Belgian government, underlining the quiet power that a well-researched and well-written history text could exert in the public sphere.” (AHA Perspectives on History, December 2008). Hochschild has been a reporter for the San Francisco Chronicle, a commentator on National Public Radio’s “All Things Considered,” and an editor and writer at Mother Jones magazine.

ASEH Fun Run Fundraiser for Hal Rothman Fellowship
Saturday, March 13
6:30 am
Meet in Portland Hilton lobby
Join us for the first annual “Run for the Hal of It” Fun(d) Run, a walk/run event to benefit the Hal Rothman Research Fellowship for graduate students. Participants will meet in the lobby before departing for a 5K (3.1 mile) walk or run (your choice) along the Willamette River and returning to the hotel. It’s not a competition—it’s just a chance to start the day with a little exercise and maybe win a cool door prize! For more information and entry forms, visit www.aseh.net/conferences/current-conference. Although there will be same-day registration, we strongly encourage advance registration, available at the website listed above. Event t-shirts and other items may be purchased in advance at: www.zazzle.com/halrothmanfund. If you have questions, please contact the organizer, Jamie Lewis, at jglewis@duke.edu.

ASEH Envirotech Breakfast
Saturday, March 13
7:15 am – 8:15 am
Tickets—$22
Location: Alexander’s, 23rd floor

ASEH Poster Presentations
Saturday, March 13
10:00 am – 10:30 am
Location: Grand Ballroom, Ballroom Level

ASEH Business Meeting
Saturday, March 13
5:30 pm – 6:00 pm
Location: Alexander’s, 23rd floor
President Harriet Ritvo will discuss ASEH’s programs and initiatives.

ASEH Joint Banquet
Saturday, March 13
7:00 pm – 9:00 pm
Tickets—$50
Location: Pavilion Ballroom, Plaza Level
Join us for a “Taste of Portland” and an after-dinner talk by Jack Ohman, cartoonist for The Oregonian, who will speak about his portrayal of regional issues over time. Includes a free raffle of the year’s prize-winning books for NCPH and ASEH. A jazz ensemble from Portland State University will perform for dinner guests after the banquet. Cash bar provided.
This workshop will focus on the collection and use of oral history by public historians, environmental historians, and the broader heritage and history community. Emphasis will be on the role of oral history in documenting and interpreting the past and the practical skills and knowledge needed to conduct and preserve recorded interviews. Attendees will share project experience and ideas, explore oral history strategy, conduct practice interviews, and participate in group discussion. The workshop will examine oral history preparation, choosing and using equipment, interview techniques, and the role of archives in oral history production and use. Attendees will receive a copy of the "Idaho Field Notebook for Oral History" and a free one-year membership in the Northwest Oral History Association. This will be an ideal learning experience for the novice and a great review and networking opportunity for public and environmental historians.

Zotero, the free, open source, easy-to-use Firefox extension for collecting, managing, and citing research sources has become a powerful platform for sharing, publishing and facilitating collaboration for all kinds of researchers. This workshop will walk participants through the basics of using Zotero. Participants will collect and import information about books manuscripts and other items, attach files, use collections and tags to organize items, and generate bibliographies and reports. From there, participants will explore Zotero’s new web features to share, collaborate and publish their collections for other researchers and the public. The presenter will walk participants through the tools features. Each participant will build their own collection, organizes it, and ultimately share and publish some of those items online. Participants will leave the workshop ready to use Zotero to add and organize sets of research sources, create bibliographies from sets of items, publish sets of items through the Zotero website, collaborate with colleagues at their own institution or with others around the world through public and private Zotero groups. Participants should bring a laptop computer with wireless internet capabilities.
WORKSHOPS

Friday, March 12
8:00 am – 5:00 pm
ASEH Workshop #2
Environmental History and the National Parks
Free—Sign Up Required
Location: Pavilion Ballroom
Limited to 50 Participants, Registration Required
Sponsored by the National Park Service
To sign up, contact Lisa Mighetto at director@aseh.net and indicate your interest in attending the morning session, afternoon site visit, or both. Please sign up only if you are certain that you will attend.

Morning Session Speakers:
Welcome and Introduction by Robert Sutton and David Louter, National Park Service
Timothy Babalis, National Park Service; Rebecca Conard, Middle Tennessee State University; Rolf Diamant, National Park Service; Jim Feldman, University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh; Mark Fiege, University of Colorado; Phil Scarpino, Indiana University Purdue University Indianapolis; Mark Spence, HistoryCraft, Oregon

It is the mission of the NPS to interpret the nation’s past—and the work of the Second Century Commission and the Ken Burns series reflect on the role of the national parks in this mission. The workshop in Portland is an opportunity to bring environmental history into this discussion—and is a preliminary step toward forming a national panel of environmental historians to analyze the national parks and the role of our scholarship in public interpretation.

Afternoon Site Visit: Columbia River Highway, including a visit to Multnomah Falls and historic bridge. Board bus at 12:00 pm; box lunches provided. Site visit speakers: Larry Lipin, Pacific University, Oregon and Bob Hadlow, Oregon Department of Transportation.
Note: Workshop will be limited to 50 people for morning and afternoon sections (owing to need for discussion, amount of food and coffee available, and seats on the bus)
ASEH Student Assistants: Neel Baumgardner and Alison Marie Steiner

Saturday, March 13
8:00 am – 10:00 am
NCPH Workshop #4
Oral History Projects: Starting New Projects, Preserving Existing Projects, Adapting to New Media
Cost: $10
Limited to 20 Participants, Registration Required
Presenters: Cherstin Lyon, California State University, San Bernardino

This workshop will teach attendees how to initiate a new oral history project, how to preserve and/or expand existing oral history projects, and how to adapt new and existing projects to new media. Any trained individual armed with a cheap tape recorder and a microphone can collect oral histories. Increasingly, however, the trend is moving toward digital audio and HD video interviews, digital storage, and online viewing. How can organizations or individuals with small budgets, or, worse yet, organizations with hundreds of existing analog audio tapes, adapt to the new standards? This workshop will provide the guidelines necessary to evaluate the scope, priorities, and technological needs of new projects. It will also teach even the most tech-wary individual how to digitize an existing analog tape and preserve it through digital technologies. The workshop will include guided discussions, handouts, step-by-step instructions for digitizing audio tapes, some hands-on practice digitizing audio, and specific instructions on additional freely available software that will be useful to individuals and small public history oriented institutions struggling to create or preserve oral history projects with smaller and smaller budgets. Participants are encouraged to bring a laptop computer with wireless internet capabilities.

Saturday, March 13
4:30 pm – 6:00 pm
NCPH Workshop #5
Omeka: An Open Source Tool for Publishing Cultural Heritage Online
Cost: $10
Limited to 20 Participants, Registration Required
Presenter: Dave Lester, George Mason University

The Center for History and New Media at George Mason University (CHNM) has developed Omeka, a next-generation Web publishing tool that will enhance the ability of museums to showcase their collections and content online. Omeka is designed specifically for smaller history museums and cultural heritage sites that may not have the resources or expertise to create and maintain their own online tools. This open-source Web tool will offer an easy professional way for museums to display their content online. Workshop participants will leave workshop with the following knowledge and skills: an introduction to Omeka and brief background on developing the software, with knowledge of different types of websites created with Omeka; an understanding of Omeka’s basic functionality, including adding items and building a small online exhibit; knowledge of how Omeka’s use of data standards or object metadata, including Dublin Core, allows it to interface with other systems via OAI and other interoperability standards; ideas for customizing Omeka to suit institutional needs, whether that’s integrating user-generated content into their website, or easily displaying and exhibiting archival collections; the necessary knowledge to setup an Omeka installation, and where to find help. Participants should bring a laptop computer with wireless internet capabilities.
Please note that there are two walking tours listed below, and that information on alternate sites of local interest and public transportation is provided on page 4 of this conference program.

If you are not going on a tour or field trip, Friday afternoon is a good time to explore the city on your own.

All buses board at 12:15 pm and leave promptly at 12:30 pm. Buses will be located on Salmon and Broadway, adjacent to the hotel. Check the signs in the hotel lobby for your field trip number and the specific location of your bus. Box lunches will be provided. As always in the Pacific Northwest, be prepared for the rain that makes the area west of the Cascade Mountains so green. Most buses will return to the hotel around 5:00 PM.

1. Columbia River/Bonneville Dam—guided by staff of Northwest Power and Conservation Council; will address dam and hydropower issues, salmon-passage system, and historic buildings; will stop at overlook for view of Columbia River Gorge. (Limit 48 participants)

2. Birding at Sauvie Island on Columbia River with Audubon Society guide—great place to see waterfowl and raptors. (Limit 48 participants)

3. Fort Vancouver and Cathlapotle Plankhouse—exploration of Hudson's Bay Company fort and Columbia River Chinook archaeology site. (Limit 48 participants)

4. Tryon Creek State Natural Area—short walk through urban forest and tour of historic iron smelter in nearby Lake Oswego. (Limit 48 participants)

5. Bicycle tour of Portland guided by Portland bicycling specialist—most of the route through this urban area is flat; be prepared for rain. (Limit 20 participants)

6. Mt. St. Helens Visitors Center at Silver Lake—includes interpretive talk and short walk. If the road is open in March, the bus will also travel to Hoffstadt Bluffs for a closer view of the volcano, near the blast zone. Note: this tour could include up to 3 hours of driving time, and might return to Portland at 6:00 pm. (Limit 48 participants)

7. Organic winery—tasting and tour of facility by the owner of Sokol-Blosser, a sustainability award-winning winery at Dundee in the Willamette Valley. (Limit 48 participants)

8. METRO’s “Urban Growth Boundary”—an inside view of Oregon's famous land-use planning system, with UGB managers. (Limit 48 participants)

9. Downtown Portland’s Historic Architecture—The tour explores the evolution of the city’s commercial architecture from the Cast Iron era (1850s-1880s) along Portland’s waterfront to the International and Post-Modern styles in the heart of today’s business and cultural district. The tour will also view other important commercial buildings, such as a grouping of early 20th century, cream colored terra cotta skyscrapers designed in the Classical Revival style. The tour will be conducted both on foot and by light rail. Led by William Willingham and Richard Engeman, architectural historians. 2.5 hours. (Limit 24 participants)

10. Portland’s Park Blocks: Defining a City by its Open Spaces—The tour will begin with a brief presentation on the founding of Portland's park system from the first public spaces in the 1850's to the Olmstead Bros. 1903 parks plan. The Park Blocks, north and south, formed the open space “spine” of the city initially as a fire break and then as a pattern for urban development in the central city and later in the 21st century a model for linear parks in the River District Urban Renewal Area known as the Pearl District. The tour will begin in the South Park Blocks and walk through the Mid-Town Blocks to the North park Blocks and end at Tanner Springs Park in the Pearl District. Tour participants will be able to either walk back to the Conference hotel or ride the Portland Street Car from Tanner Springs. The walk will last for 90-minutes and comfortable walking shoes are recommended. Led by Henry Kunowski, architectural historian. (Limit 15 participants)

8:00 am – 10:00 am
Working Group 1-A: International Council on Public History
Bringing Global Public History Closer

Facilitator: Anna Adamek, Canada Science and Technology Museum

Discussants:
Justin Champion, Royal Holloway, University of London; H.A. Akku Chowdhury, Liberation War Museum (Bangladesh); Kate Christen, Smithsonian National Zoo; Andreas Eges, The John F. Kennedy Institute for North American Studies; James Gardner, National Museum of American History; Erika Gee, International Coalition of Sites of Conscience; Michelle Hamilton, University of Western Ontario; Jon Hunner, New Mexico State University; Serge Noiret, The Library - European University Institute; Linda Norris, Riverhill; Jon Olsen, University of Massachusetts; Manon Parry, National Library of Medicine-National Institutes of Health; Cecilia Rusnak, Penn State University; Lisa Singleton, UNESCO’s World Heritage Centre; Ioana Teodorescu, McGill University, Montreal and Algonquin College, Ottawa; Jonathan Whalley, Independent Public Historian

The working group format is designed to facilitate substantive, focused, and extended seminar-like conversations on a particular topic. Discussants were selected from an open call in October. Prior to the conference, each has reviewed and commented by email on each other’s case statements which describe what their similarly-preoccupied colleagues are doing and thinking. Working groups are open to other conference-goers who would like to sit in on the discussions, but we ask that they respect the co-chairs’ need to potentially limit participation from the audience.

NCPH has put a professional twist on ‘speed dating’ creating stress-free networking opportunities at the annual meeting. Graduate students, recent graduates, and new professionals will have the opportunity to meet with five established public history practitioners for fifteen minute intervals. Before the buzzer sounds, participants can discuss career options, professional development, and any other aspects of the field. There is no cost for this session but registration is required. After the final rotation, participants have the opportunity to mingle in a free-flowing atmosphere. Last year’s speed networkers and anyone participating in this year’s mentor program are invited to join us for this portion of the program.

Speed Networking Sessions: 3:30 pm-4:45 pm

Facilitators:
Melissa Bingmann, Director of Public History, West Virginia University
Denise Meringolo, Coordinator of Public History, University of Maryland, Baltimore County

2010 ASEH CONFERENCE PROGRAM

Thursday, March 11

5:30 pm – 7:15 pm
ASEH Plenary Session (Pavilion Ballroom, Plaza Level)
Dam Removal on the Klamath: Water, Environment, Fish, Power & People

Through most of the 20th century, the benefits offered by dams held sway over the public mind. But in recent decades, a rethinking of how humans interact with the environment has brought the costs associated with dams to the forefront. In the Pacific Northwest, special attention has focused on the devastation brought by dams to spawning fish populations and to the people culturally bound to these fisheries. Recognition of such impacts has fostered (re)consideration of both the necessity of new large-scale water projects and the possibility of removing existing water control structures from the landscape.

What is happening now on the Klamath River along the Oregon/California border – where the fate of four mainstem hydroelectric power dams is the subject of intense public debate – offers an excellent prism for examining the issue of dam removal. By the early 1970s, demands on limited water supplies in the Klamath watershed sparked conflict among a diverse set of communities; these include native fishers on the upper and lower river, farmers working irrigated lands, owners of hydroelectric facilities, rate-payers of electric power utilities, and environmental groups seeking to protect threatened species and habitats. The ongoing Klamath River controversy provides an opportunity to explore how—in a specific, real world context—myriad interest groups and communities are grappling with the challenges and opportunities presented by the possibility of large-scale dam removal.

For the Plenary Session, residents and organizational representatives now involved in bringing change to the Klamath Basin will present their viewpoints and invite/spur audience comments and questions. In addition, Nancy Langston (ASEH Past President), Stephen Most (producer of the acclaimed documentary film River of Renewal) and dam historian DC Jackson will offer background and moderate the discussion.

“Adventures in Public History”

Adam Hochschild is an award-winning author and journalist who has used history to reveal the lingering effects of past iniquities on the present. His most recent work, Bury the Chains: Prophets and Rebels in the Fight to Free an Empire’s Slaves, was a finalist for the 2005 National Book Award. The Unquiet Ghost: Russians Remember Stalin (1994) is a deeply moving exploration of history and memory shortly after the end of the Cold War. It was primarily because of King Leopold’s Ghost: A Story of Greed, Terror, and Heroism in Colonial Africa (1998), which brought to light the horrors of Belgian colonial rule in the Congo, that the American Historical Association awarded Hochschild the 2009 AHA Theodore Roosevelt-Woodrow Wilson Prize. According to the AHA, “Hochschild’s book triggered the first open national discussion of imperial injustices and eventually spurred other investigations and led to an official apology being tendered by the Belgian government, underlining the quiet power that a well-researched and well-written story text could exert in the public sphere.” (AHA Perspectives on History, December 2008).

Hochschild has been a reporter for the San Francisco Chronicle, a commentator on National Public Radio’s “All Things Considered,” and an editor and writer at Mother Jones magazine.

Join the NCPH today!

For three decades, NCPH has promoted professionalism among history practitioners and their collaborative engagement with the public. We are a membership association of consultants, curators, government historians, professors & students, archivists, teachers, cultural resource managers, film & media producers, historical interpreters, policy advisors, preservationists, and many others. Members confer at the annual meeting each spring and share their expertise in our journal, The Public Historian, the newsletter, Public History News, on the email listserv, H-Public, and in other evolving venues.

Public history is an effort by historians and their various publics to collaborate in making the past useful. It generally takes place in settings beyond the traditional classroom.

Become a member and receive:

- The Public Historian
  - a print and online journal offering the best original research, case studies, reviews, and coverage of the ever-expanding international field of public history

- Professional Development
  - through workshops, working groups, and networks of fellow public history practitioners

- Public History News
  - a print and e-newsletter of recent developments in the field

- Electronic Access
  - to the online listserv H-Public, NCPH’s LinkedIn and Facebook groups, and to individual subscriptions to ACLS Humanities E-book

- Discounts on the Annual Meeting
  - Pensacola, April 2011, and Milwaukee, April 2012

- Leadership Opportunities
  - help to shape NCPH and the field by serving on committees and task forces

Mentoring Network

Are you new to NCPH or ASEH or attending the annual meeting for the first time? Would you welcome advice about getting the most out of the conference experience or being introduced to other professionals during the conference? Or, are you a veteran of NCPH or ASEH and conferences who is willing to mentor? If you would like to meet a mentor in Portland, or be a mentor, please e-mail ncph@iupui.edu or director@aseh.net or check the appropriate box on the registration form. Mentors and mentees will be put in contact with one another prior to the meeting. We encourage mentors and mentees to meet at an event early in the conference, such as the Networking and Mentoring Reception on Thursday, March 11, from 4:45 pm until 5:15 pm.

EDITED BY CHAR MILLER  $24.95 Paperback

Water in the 21st-Century West
A High Country News Reader
EDITED BY CHAR MILLER, WITH AN AFTERWORD BY PAUL LARMER  $24.95 Paperback

In writings drawn from the pages of High Country News, the newspaper that sets the standard for coverage of environmental issues in the West, River Basins of the American West and Water in the 21st-Century West explore why water has been, and remains, the West’s most essential and controversial issue.

These two volumes are essential primers in assessing and mapping the West’s water future—they capture the range and nature of the arguments that have defined water politics in the region over the past decade.

The Environmental Justice
William O. Douglas and American Conservation
ADAM M. SOWARDS

From the late 1940s to the mid-1970s, American conservation politics underwent a transformation—and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas (1898-1980) was at the heart of this shift toward modern environmentalism.

The Lumberman’s Frontier
Three Centuries of Land Use, Society, and Change in America’s Forests
THOMAS R. COX

Forests were ubiquitous in early America, but only in some areas was it the trees that led to settlement. These areas constituted the lumberman’s frontier, appearing first in northern New England in the 17th century and then in upstate New York, the Allegheny Plateau, the upper Great Lakes states, the Gulf South, and the Far West. These frontier’s generated capital, organizations, and attitudes that impacted events across the land and would shape forest use and policy long after frontier conditions passed in the 1930s.

What is environmental history?

Environmental history is the study of human interactions with the physical world over time. Environmental history is interdisciplinary. It draws insights from history, geography, anthropology, the natural sciences, and many other disciplines. It studies policy and politics as well as flora and fauna, art and literature as well as economics and law, cities and factories as well as farms and wilderness.

Who are environmental historians?

Environmental history has been the creation of scholars from many different disciplines. It welcomes contributions from humanists, scientists, and practitioners, no matter what their training, who share the belief that careful study of past environments is our best guide to understanding the environmental present and envisioning the environmental future. It is an open discipline that encourages divergent points of view, new methods, and spirited debate.

ASEH conferences include a book exhibit.

Dreaming of Sheep in Navajo Country
MARSHA L. WEISGER
“I cannot think of any book that weaves a more compelling narrative from the collision of Indian, American, and scientific understandings of nature. Weisiger’s painstaking reconstruction of the region’s biotic communities and her careful attention to biologists’ thinking and their meanings for historians places this book in a class by itself.” — Louis Warren, University of California, Davis

Toxic Archipelago
A History of Industrial Disease in Japan
BRETT WALKER
“Brett Walker turns his attention to the environmental consequences of industrialization in Japan over the past two centuries, focusing especially on toxic pollution and the human suffering it has caused. . . . A major contribution not just to Japanese environmental history but to the history of industrial pollution worldwide.” — William Cronon, University of Wisconsin-Madison

SHAPING THE AMERICAN LANDSCAPE
New Profiles from the Pioneers of American Landscape Design Project

Edited by Charles A. Birnbaum and Stephanie S. Foell

Shaping the American Landscape explores the lives and work of 149 professionals who quite literally shaped both the land itself and our ideas of what the American landscape means. Although the contributors consider many important figures from the past, the book breaks new ground by including seminal designers who are in their twilight years, and in some cases still professionally active, to provide a fascinating look at the modern era of design in action. The roster of profiles extends far beyond landscape architects to encompass professionals in many other fields, including planning, journalism, gardening, and golf course and cemetery design.

The first comprehensive reference to examine the critical role and impact of the environment on American history.

Encyclopedia of American Environmental History
Kathleen A. Brosnan, Editor

FALL 2010.

Since the late 20th century, environmental history has become a major topic in American history. By shedding light on new issues and recasting familiar views of key events and developments in our nation’s past, environmental historians have reinterpreted U.S. history in a gripping, vital, and timely fashion.

The illustrated, four-volume Encyclopedia of American Environmental History provides more than 750 articles covering all the historical and contemporary issues, events, people, laws, themes, and activism relating to the environment. Arranged alphabetically, each signed article includes cross-references to related entries and suggestions for further reading. Ideal for the high school and college curriculum, this accessible encyclopedia also includes a comprehensive chronology, an extensive bibliography, and dozens of original documents, maps, tables, and charts, as well as an index in each volume. More than 350 historians, scholars, and experts—many of them members of the American Society for Environmental History—have contributed to this encyclopedia. Written in clear and jargon-free prose, this authoritative reference provides a new and broader approach to American history.
